Hunter Ammo is the next level of Hunter game types – players use an ammunition weapon.

Players use a very slow firing, but powerful (one shot tag) weapon, and must hunt down the other players and tag them without getting tagged themselves.

The trick to this game is tagging the opponent on the first shot – with the 5 second delay between shots, there isn't time for another.

Furthermore, players must remember to reload between each shot, and manage their ammunition levels, lest they run out of ammunition in the middle of a battle.

Arena Components will use the Ammo Tag configuration.
